Mead Johnson Nutrition/Research Dietetic Practice Group Student Research Award

Purpose:
- To award high quality student research posters or oral presentations at FNCE®.
- Three awardees will receive a $250 award.

Application Criteria:
- Abstract must be accepted for a poster or oral presentation at the 2019 FNCE® meeting.
- Applicant must be a student. Student is defined as someone attending a university/college at the time the abstract was submitted. The term student encompasses undergraduate, graduate or at the post-doctoral level.
- Applicant must be the first author of the abstract.
- Applicant must have a 2019-2020 Research DPG membership.
- The application deadline is September 15, 2019.

Terms of Award:
- Notifications will be sent by email by mid-October.
- Winners are expected to present their abstract/poster at the RDPG Breakfast at FNCE®.
- Award does not include money to cover travel expenses to attend FNCE®.

Application format:
- Email a copy of the abstract, the acceptance notification, and the completed application form to: rdpgawards@gmail.com.
- The subject line of your e-mail should be “[LAST NAME] Student Research Award”.

Rating criteria: The award winner will be selected by the Research DPG Awards committee independent of the sponsor and based solely on the criteria below:
- Quality of research plan and scientific merit
- Relevance of research to topic area
- Methods and results
- Clarity, writing quality, and conclusions that are consistent with results